

HAWAI'I CHILDREN'S THEATRE

Audition Announcement

Hawaii Children's Theatre encourages young adult actors ages 15 to 22 who are serious about theatre to audition for a chance to join this exclusive repertory troupe

The Hawaii Children's Theatre Pono Players are holding auditions for "Ripples", a performance montage of true story monologues, drama, music, and dance that delivers the facts about methamphetamine use and sparks discussion on a range of issues facing young people.

Director Ed Eaton (Cinderella, Big River, Annie) will work closely with this elite cast of five to seven young adult actors who will tour the island performing for both public and private audiences. Rehearsals will include improvisation exercises, dance, group discussion and research, collaboration with community agencies, content creation, and video analysis. Ripples cast members will deal with mature subject matter and grow as actors and performing artists while delivering dramatic life messages that have a powerful and positive impact on the community.

The auditions will consist of cold readings and improvisational exercises. Two to three rehearsals per week will be required with performances in late April and May. The rehearsal schedule will be determined after casting.
